Easy to connect Despite its name only hinting of iPhone as a compatible device, this application can help you recover data from any iOS device, whether it's an iPhone, an iPad, an iPod or an iPod Touch we're talking about. You just need to connect the device to your computer and launch the application for it to be detected. After the device is detected by the application, you might need to hit the "Trust" button in the main window and also confirm that the application can access your device from your device's screen. Recover iOS data When the device has been set, you can perform a quick scan of data found on it by merely clicking the green "Scan" button in the "Recover from iOS Device" section. This lets you view data that has been lost or that can be recovered. Aside from restoring iOS device data, Safe365 iPhone Data Recovery Pro also lets you recover content from iTunes backup files on your computer or device as well as iCloud data, provided that you can log into your account from the app so that it can access the contents it needs. Handy iOS data recovery tool All in all, if you've accidentally lost some of the data on your iPhone, iPad, iPod or any other iOS device, you can turn to Safe365 iPhone Data Recovery Pro, since it packs everything you need to recover them easily.
