April 24, 2008 Here is the following guide to make guild emblems for RO. I will try and make it as simple as possible so all you have to do is read. RO Mug Item (The l symbol) - To make a custom blueprint for a mug item, go to a blueprint store like Imvu, while making the item you make a item Create RO Guild Emblem May 4, 2012 Yes, i am still alive, but for some reason the forums have shut down, which means my website is broken, and I have no time, so I won't be posting any RSO::RO_ROM:create_guild_emblem A: In the RoCraft plugin, the GUI menu is called EDIT. This GUI pops up when you click EDIT in the RO_UI. If you're not on a stable build, you might have a stale version of the plugin installed or plugins are blocked by the mod manager. Run 'plugin_update.sh' in the plugins folder and that should resolve the issue. EDIT: the links in the question are not valid anymore (The Wiki) UPDATE: After a few years it is still valid. Q: Apple Watch, Automation of code execution I have created an Apple Watch app and I am using the CoreLocation API. If I have a custom location and set it to be detected, and then I tap on the Automation button, my code runs. If I tap on the Automation button, my app stops and execution takes place, see below: When my app is executing, it exits the app and an alert is shown, see below: I tried running in the playground in Xcode and what it does is it stops the app and does nothing. The reason I can see for this happening is that if the app gets suspended, all timers end and the WatchTimer object crashes. When is the best time to trigger an action such as sending a message (using the WatchConnectivity API) or updating a database? I want to run code as soon as location is detected, not when the automation button is tapped as seen below: A: Run/Stop the App could be ignored by Apps which are not in the foreground. You could try to use forceProcessing property of the timer. Example: var time : Date = Date() ba244e880a
