Hiren's.Ryerson University has unveiled the concept for its first comprehensive, interdisciplinary humanities building. Designed by the B-Cubed Architecture firm, the 19,000-square-foot building will feature an array of shared and group study spaces for eight faculty and academic disciplines. The university has identified the building as a collaborative effort between the Arts, Science and Engineering departments and the Social Sciences and Humanities. Last fall, the university announced plans to put the $55 million project on hold until the federal government announced a specific funding announcement for building renovations. But in a press release issued Monday, Ryerson University president Joel Layton said the university's board of governors has committed $15 million to the project. The university said it hopes to begin construction on the building, which will be funded solely by the university, by the end of 2017.Thanks to the increase in traffic on the bing.com search engine, Google Chrome is working great on my Lenovo T400 with the Intel Atom processor As you know for any mobile device user, it is a must that we use chrome for browsing. A lot of Nokia and androids user prefer going to the other browsers such as Firefox and Opera, for their experience. Another important function for bing is that it is faster, meaning it loads faster when you are on the go. This can be very crucial especially when you have a slow Internet connection, or your pocket network is low on signal. Downloading with Chrome (in case you do not already have it installed): Install Google Chrome on your laptop, tablet or smart phone, Open the browser and click on File menu and then on new incognito window. In the pop up window, click on the chrome icon. For those of you who has a special icon, click on it and type chrome://chrome/settings/ and when the popup window comes, scroll down to incognito mode and check it off. Using the incognito window is a great way for you to browse incognito and protect your privacy with the option to 3ef4e8ef8d
