What's New in the?

ChatForge is a .Net desktop application designed to help reduce the effort required to create a server / client system. The Application includes two Client Applications that can be executed in order to form a simple client server scenario, however the real power of the ChatForge is its ability to function as a C# Remoting server. The Client / Server is based on the popular .Net framework 3.5, however can also be used with .Net Framework 3.5.3. The Server is designed to be a simple implementation that is easy to use and maintain. The Client is designed to be a fully featured implementation, allowing you to interact with your server application in an easy to use manner. Using the ChatForge The ChatForge is easy to setup and use. Simply select the server and client option to create your server / client scenario and you will have a fully functioning server and client. The ChatForge provides the .Net Framework 3.5 Client Application by default, however .Net Framework 3.5.3 is also supported. This is a tutorial application, and the code has been designed to be easy to understand and follow for both new and experienced .Net developers.
