Paste the names of the selected files or folders in an ordered manner When executing the application, the user will be able to copy the filenames of as many files as they need by simply right-clicking and choosing the "Copy Names" option. Furthermore, this feature will allow them to either paste the contents into a text document or simply close the file after the process has been completed. The names will be copied in the same order as they appear in the directory, regardless of whether they are selected individually or as a group. The clipboard will be emptied before the files are copied to make sure that all files are deleted immediately after being pasted. Navigate through your desired files without any trouble It will also be possible to "lasso" any number of files or folders for copying. Once the selections are made, the selected items will be moved into the clipboard, after which the user will be able to close the opened folders or move them elsewhere if necessary. Flexible: paste the contents of the clipboard into any document that you desire When users paste the contents of the clipboard into any text document, the filenames will be pasted into the same document, in the same order as they appear in the directory. Chronic intermittent hypoxia (CIH), as a feature of obstructive sleep apnea, is characterized by recurrent episodes of hypoxemia that last for several hours. Excessive activation of the sympathetic nervous system plays a crucial role in the pathophysiology of patients with CIH. Sympathetic activity is augmented by various mechanisms, including hypoxemia, hypercapnia and hyperglycemia. In turn, sympathetic activation augments the development of hypertension, target-organ damage, and cardiovascular mortality. Pharmacological therapy for hypertension is usually effective for treatment of hypertensive patients with CIH. In patients with essential hypertension and/or mild-to-moderate CIH, various antihypertensive agents effectively reduce blood pressure. In contrast, antihypertensive agents do not always effectively control blood pressure in patients with refractory CIH. In addition, antihypertensive drugs and vasodilators have been shown to have an

We have a lot to do and not a lot of time. I have made a decision to run as an Independent. Three Out of Four from which one has elected to remain?" of a prima facie case. The party opposing the motion then has the burden of coming forward with admissible evidence sufficient to raise a genuine issue of material fact as to each element of its prima facie case. Id. at 323-24, 106 S.Ct. at 2553. 17 The summary judgment procedure was designed to go to the merits so that summary judgment would be an expeditious way to determine whether or not there are any disputed issues of material fact, which should be resolved by a trial. In Celotex, the Supreme Court said: 18 "... The plain language of Rule 56(c) mandates the entry of summary judgment, after adequate time for discovery and upon motion, against a party who fails to make a showing sufficient to establish the existence of an element essential to that party's case, and on which that party will bear the burden of proof at trial. In such a situation, there can be 'no genuine issue as to any material fact,' since a complete failure of proof concerning an essential element of the nonmoving party's case necessarily renders all other facts immaterial. The moving party is 'entitled to judgment as a matter of law' because the nonmoving party has failed to make a sufficient showing on an essential element of her case with respect to which she has the burden of proof. If the respondent fails to meet this initial burden, the burden does not shift and the petitioner is not required to produce evidence supporting the existence of a genuine issue of material fact." Id. at 323-24, 106 S.Ct. at 2553. 19 In this case, the defendants in the motion for summary judgment produced sworn evidence that neither of the officers was at the scene of the accident. The plaintiffs, however, produced sworn evidence that the defendant officer was in the area at the time the accident
