But how do you know if a verandah is right for you? Well, here are four reasons why they're the perfect addition to your home:

They add charm to your home.

Verandahs are a great way to add charm to your home. They can be used as a place to sit and relax, or they can serve as an entertaining area for guests. Verandahs also provide an excellent opportunity for you to get creative with decorating your veranda with plants and flowers or even small pieces of art that reflect your personality.

They're a great place to read and relax in the shade.

A verandah is a great place to read and relax in the shade. It's also a good spot for enjoying your morning coffee, taking a break from the sun, or as an extension of your living room or bedroom.

If you're planning to build a verandah, here are some things to keep in mind:

-Make sure you have enough space for a verandah. If you're planning to build it on your house, check with your local building department to see what regulations apply in your area

-Choose materials that are durable, easy to clean and resistant to decay. In some areas, you may need special permission for certain materials such as metal or vinyl siding.

-Consider adding an awning over the verandah to provide shade. If you're planning to add a roof, make sure it's strong enough to support any extra weight.

-If you have pets, consider putting in pet doors or screens so they can come and go as they please.

They can enhance the room that they are joined with.

A verandah can be used as an extension of your living room, dining room or bedroom. It can also be made into a study room for children. The structure itself provides you with privacy from the rest of the house and keeps them safe from any dangers that may lurk outside (like animals).

If you have a small house and want to make it look bigger, then a verandah can help. It will give your home an extra room without having to build one from scratch.

They open up the interior of your home to your outdoor living space.

A verandah is an extension of your living space, so make sure you use it for more than just admiring the view. Whether it's a place to have tea and scones or to read a book in the evening, the verandah should be treated as an extension of your home and not just an outdoor space that looks pretty but doesn't get used much.

If you want to make a statement with your verandah design, try extending it outwards onto the ground instead of upwards like other designs do. This will help create extra space at ground level while still keeping things open and airy up above!
