FAQs

Can I Make Cards Using My Cricut Machine?

Yes, for sure! Cricut offers a variety of card projects that you can create using either a Cricut blade or a pen. With a blade, you can cut a design on the machine and stick it to the cardboard. With a pen, you can directly draw a design on the card. Cricut provides various pens to choose from based on your project requirements.

What Cricut Machines Are Best for Making Cards?

You can use any Cricut machine to make cards, but the best tool depends on your project size. For larger projects, models like Maker, Maker 3, and Explore 3 are ideal. For smaller projects, Joy or Explore Air 2 will be sufficient. If you want to work on cards using Cricut pens, you will need newer machines that support this feature, such as Maker 3, Explore 3, or Joy.

Can I Write on Cards With a Cricut Machine?

To make card-related designs, you have two options: using a Cricut pen or cutting and sticking designs. Writing with a pen on your Cricut tool is a newer feature that is not available on older machines. For pen projects, you can use machines like Maker 3, Explore 3, or Joy.
